

STUDENT FELLOWS 2013-2014

Sasha Freedman

Sasha Freedman earned her undergraduate degree at the University of Michigan with a major in economics. She is an active member of the GW Antitrust Law Association, Alternative Dispute Resolution Board, and the GW International Law Review. Sasha currently serves as a research assistant to Professor William Kovacic in the field of antitrust law and has experience as a legal intern at the Federal Trade Commission in the office of Commissioner Joshua Wright. She expects to graduate with a J.D. from The George Washington University Law School in May 2015.

Kate Whitehead

Kate Whitehead is a third-year law student at the George Washington University Law School and expects to receive her J.D. in May 2014. She graduated summa cum laude with a degree in Honors Economics and double minors in Spanish and Political Science from the University of Tennessee in 2011.

During law school, Ms. Whitehead has interned for Commissioner Maureen K. Ohlhausen at the Federal Trade Commission and the Honorable Peter J. Messitte for the U.S. District Court for the District of Maryland. She has also worked in the Enforcement Bureau of the Federal Communications Commission and the Criminal Division of the D.C. Office of the Attorney General. Ms. Whitehead has served as a Research Assistant for Professor William E. Kovacic, a U.S. Associate Editor and Author for the e-Competitions Bulletin published by the Institute of Competition Law and is a member of the Public Contract Law Journal at GW Law. She is currently working as a legal extern in the Antitrust Division of the U.S. Department of Justice.

Robert Vorhees

Robert Vorhees is currently completing his J.D. at the George Washington University Law School. Mr. Vorhees received his bachelor of arts in Political Science and Philosophy, cum laude, from DePaul University in Chicago. While attending law school, Mr. Vorhees served as a judicial intern on the Maryland Court of Special Appeals, and as a full-time law clerk at the Employment Law Group where he worked on False Claims Act and other whistleblower rewards cases. Prior to law school he worked in White & Case's Antitrust and Litigation practice groups as a Senior Legal Assistant in the firm's Washington D.C., Paris, and Brussels offices.

Milagros De Pomar

Ms. Milagros De Pomar studied her Bachelor of Laws at the Pontificia Universidad Católica del Perú, where she also obtained the title of Lawyer (with the mention of "very good"). She was a in-house lawyer at IBM Peru for more than 4 years, being in charge of all complex negotiations with private clients, government contracting, legal counseling for risk minimization and corporate compliance. As part of her job, she also worked in international projects that involved many of the Latin American countries, and trained most of the company's areas on IBM's terms and conditions and business conduct guidelines. In 2011, she was awarded with the Thomas Buergeth Scholarship at The George Washington University Law School and studied a Master of Laws Degree, which she completed in May 2012. She is a member of the Callao Bar Association in Peru, and since last August she has been a Student Fellow at the Competition Law Center.

Arthur Saakian

Arthur Saakian earned his undergraduate degree, summa cum laude, at the University of California, Los Angeles (UCLA). He double majored in Political Science, with an emphasis on International Relations, and History. He is currently finishing his third year at The George Washington University Law School, and expects to graduate in May 2014. Mr. Saakian has had diverse experience as a legal intern at the United States Department of the Treasury, the Securities Industry and Financial Markets Association (SIFMA), and as a judicial extern to The Honorable Ronald S.W. Lew at the United States District Court, Central District of California. Currently, Mr. Saakian is a Research Assistant to Professor William E. Kovacic in the field of Antitrust and Competition Law. Mr. Saakian has served as the Vice President of Outreach of GW Law School's Student Bar Association, and is the Content Editor of the Nota Bene, the official GW Law Magazine. A native of Armenia, Mr. Saakian grew up in Los Angeles prior to relocating to Washington, DC to attend law school.

Jane Hong

Jane Hong is a J.D. candidate with a strong background in aviation and international law. Before enrolling in law school, Jane earned her LL.M. degree at Leiden University and worked for a trade association of European security companies in Belgium. Her LL.M. thesis was the first academic work to explore liabilities of aviation security service providers and selected as the Best Paper on European air law by the European Air Law Association in 2009.

Nathan Jepson

Nathan Jepson earned his bachelors degree in economics from Brigham Young University and worked at the United States Chamber of Commerce before law school. During law school he has worked at Bates White Economic Consulting and is currently an intern at the Federal Trade Commission. He is a member of the Law Review and the president of the Antitrust Law Association.

Patrick Galasso

Patrick Galasso graduated summa cum laude from Colgate University in 2011, double majoring in Political Science and English. He is currently in the third year of his J.D. program at the George Washington University Law School. Patrick has intern experience with the District of Columbia Office of the Attorney General and the United States Attorney's Office in D.C. He has also worked as a research assistant for Professor William Kovacic, has a publication pending in the Federal Circuit Bar Journal, and is an active member of the G.W. Mock Trial Board.

Michael Margolis

Michael Margolis is a native of Farmington Hills, Michigan and currently in his second year at George Washington Law School. Prior to law school, Michael received his undergraduate degree in Philosophy from Brandeis University.

Michael has been working as a research assistant at the Competition Law Center since June 2013. In addition to working at CLS, Michael is also currently working at the Federal Trade Commission's Office of International Affairs as an antitrust intern.